Stephen Foster Vesper Program Presented By Music Honoraries

By DAVE SALYERS

Members of Phi Beta, honorary musical and dramatic society for women, and Phi Mu Alpha, honorary men's musical fraternity, presented a delightful program of Stephen Collins Foster songs and provided something new and different in vesper concerts Sunday afternoon in Memorial hall

Using as a background the lawn of an old Colonial mansion, decorated with flowers and climbing vines, the singers presented 12 of Foster's immortal songs blended into a continuous unit. A tribute to the arrangement of the songs and of the singers is the fact that no one voice or number was outstanding but each one rendered in the best manner possible and carrying out the theme perfectly. The colorful costumes and good lighting effects added to the charm of the program, and much credit is due to Jean Abel, Sara Cundiff, due and Bob Griffith, who supervised

Dr. W. S. Webb Delivers Chief Address As Tau Beta Pi Inducts Six Juniors Into Honorary Fraternity

Six juniors in engineering were ledged to Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, at the an-nual spring exercises held Friday in Memorial hall. The guest speaker for the convocation was Dr. W. S. Webb, who spoke on "Research in Pre-History.

Pledges of Tau Beta Pi are Fillmore Slater, Louisville; Norwell Ivory Gebhart, Kansas City, Kan-James Francis Gregory Springfield; James Thurman Rob-erts, Somerset; Roland Wynns Clay; and Robert Eugene Fish, Lexington. The convocation was conducted by Charles Reeves, Tau Beta Pi president. Following an organ prelude by Mrs. Lela W. Cullis, Mr. Reeves outlined the purpose and requirements for membership in Tau Beta Pi. He explained that prospective pledges must not only have scholastic ability, but must also have a pleasing personal appersonality, character, and integrity.

After the tapping service, Dr. Webb introduced the general subject of his hobby, archeology, by declaring that every man should "The only trouble is that the tail often wags the dog, and you have to be careful that your hobby doesn't happen that

The archeologist must depend up-on the geologist, chemist, archeogeologist, botanist, and engineer for assistance in interpreting accumulated debris, the speaker added. After describing several of his archeological experiences in Ken-announced that drawings would be held at 5 p. m. Wednesday in the Alumni gym. Dick Bray and Dan Tehan of Cincinnati, and Bowser Chest of Nashville, will be the tournament officials.

Eight games are scheduled for Thursday, five in the afternoon and three at night. The first contests will begin at 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, and 9 o'clock. In the quarter final round, two games will be played in the afternoon and two more at night. The semi-finalists will meet Saturday afternoon with the championship tilt scheduled for Saturday night. St. Xavier of Louisville has been established as the pre-tourney fav-orite to win the basketball crown. The Falls City basketeers, with their first team playing only the first half, defeated Sonora in the finals of the seventh regional, winning by 39 to 21. Other favored fives include Horse Cave, perennial threat from Western Kentucky; Midway, Central Kentucky's chief hope; Hazard, surprise winner over Whitesburgh; and Inez, outstanding

Eastern Kentucky threat.

Coach Earl Jones' Maysville five, winner of the hotly contested tenth regional, is the only Central Ken-tucky Conference team remaining in the chase. The Bulldogs defeated the powerful M. M. I. Cadets in a hard fought battle, 22 to 20.

Only two teams, St. Xavier and Hazard, have ever won previous state championships. Of the 16 teams that competed in last year's tourney, only four were fortunate enough to return to Lexington. These teams are: Inez, Midway, Bowling Green. A new champion is certain to be crowned as Corbin's five, last year's title holders, were defeated by Knox Central, of Barbourville, 28 to 21, in the regional semi-finals.

WELCOME HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS

Displaying basketball ability which The Kernel hopes will later find its way into material for the University team, the regional basketball champions of Kentucky will play for the state championship this Thursday, Friday and Saturday on the Alumni gymnasium floor.

Every spring at this time the best basketball teams of this state gather on this campus for the tournament play. And with the teams come scores of high school students eager to cheer their team on. University students should remember that they are an example to these high school pupils. A cordial word from the University student is appreciated, and should be extended sincerely. They are the future students who will matriculate here.

To the visitors, The Kernel extends a sincere welcome. They come ambitious, eager, loyal in support of their team. The Kernel too shares their enthusiasm. Even though but one team can win the championship, all 16 teams have already proven their athletic superiority. Even though the adage be trite, "May the Best Team

CHALLENGE TO THE PRESS

Twenty years ago, when President Eliot of Harvard presented an address in which he happened to mention the word syphilis and gonorrhea, a Boston newspaper, horrified, deleted all reference to the speech. In 1934 the National Broadcasting Company refused to allow medical officers to discuss the subject of venereal diseases over the radio, fearing criticism from listeners.

The fact that venereal diseases affect approximately 10 percent of the United States' population, that syphilis produces death or chronic invalidism in one-fourth of those affected, and that every year there occurs a total of 518,000 fresh adult infections has been known to medical men and social workers, but until recently the public has been neither informed nor offered aid in a forthright manner concerning this first class menace.

Throughout the country today, progressive newspapers are launching campaigns against venereal diseases, presenting information, advice, statistics, and aid to the average reader. Encouraged by Dr. Thomas Parran, head of the U. S. Public Health, surveys revealing the prevalence of venereal diseases, their causes, and cures, are being published in an effort to throw over the taboo concerning these diseases, a taboo which has been responsible for much of the havoc caused by these.

New York Daily News, which presented one of the most influential and valuable venereal disease campaigns, recently said, "I am convinced that the crusade against venereal diseases, now flaming everywhere, will be the No. I health campaign of the next decade and that the press will do its part-as it must do its part if these scourges are to be stamped out. Medical science has had the weapons to conquer syphilis at least for 25 years, but the disease is rampant. Who? Because the enemy has not been brought within the range of those weapons. The doctors cannot win this battle alone. You cannot kill a tiger when he hides in the bushes. Someone must drive him into the open. That is the job of the press, the radio, the screen."

Here is a challenge to newspapers which they must accept if they are to serve their true purpose. Medical science can wipe out venereal diseases if it is given the opportunity. It is up to the press to make that opportunity, to break down the taboo which is barring progress, to make the public take action against the menace which is so prevalent in the United States today.

The Vice Of the People

By GEORGE KERLER

In tune with the rumored collegiate trek to the Southern Pacific Archipelago was the SAE South Sea Stomp presented last Saturday night for your grogariousness and your dancing habits. This was a weekly social riot we strode into happily and abstemiously but nevertheless enjoyed it from the first to the last measure. The same com-pliments spout from the entire

To good Tahitians like Lexy Sexy Potter, Van Deren Irvine and myself, the swingoree seemed a bit sacrilegious to our archimorphic instincts, especially when Carl Moore's merrymakers and your feet shook the sands with such Polynesian ballads as "Let's Go Slumming" and "The Boston Tea Party."

Though it was Saturday night a remarkable number of students at-tend the lectures in the glassroom down in the basement. Eminent there were the SAE's and other select tosspots who kept the grass skirt rodeo's jollity at a maximum.

The South Sea scheme is typical of the SAEian and American tendencies for the original. In this case it clicked perfectly. The Lime-stone lads truly deserve the campus's wink of approval.

South Sea Stomp - idea for a

This little Quigley went to market for J. Rice Walker at the SAE jig-ger while Lucille Thornton looked on not altogether agreeably. Emily, now being stormed by Bob Mefford, has unique talent for unconsciously bombing solid and traditional cou-ples, said the voice of experience. So let's baptize her, Happy Ro-mance Demolisher No. 1.

Actives who play the role of semi-Attila during Hell Week receive admirable vengeance from the frosh when the Seven Day Suffering ends. Examples: Delt John Chambers, goader extraordinary, was thrown into an automobile by the DTD pledges and was carried 52 miles down in the mountains, kicked out and left to thumb his way home. The Sigma Nu tyros were less cruel to their chief irritater. They threw The Goon, Wimmer Leonard, into the cold shower tuxedo and all. Both Chambers and Leonard were in strange places.

Among the bibliophiles... In addition to being an academic prob-lem, the Library has become a social puzzle. Should you want to ascend to the fourth floor via the elevator you'll have to walk. Why? Because "students" have used the vertical trolly line as a hideaway to carry on love's ups and downs. What's more they stop between floors, shut off the power, and turn to things more interesting. The library police have remedied this situation by killing the elevator service after 7 p. m. with more legal reasoning than the scholars employ.

Every time we get a juicy story it turns out to be a fat product of gossip evolution. Surely, by now, you have been astonished or heart broken by the news of Bardstown Red Sympson's lawful linkage with KD Tilly Denton. It is untrue. The fable follows:

After January graduation Red went to Florida. So did Tilly. They met at Hialeah Park and Tilly won $55 on a horse race. The dough and Red's eagerness resulted in marriage at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. We can imagine what happened. Tilly probably won a $2.60 show bet on the favorite and they went for a ride under the palm trees. Some-body saw them and by the time the story squirmed from the baseball training camps to the Blue Grass, Tilly had won $55 and a husband. It's all a lie. Now you coeds can ease weeping.

Stimulating Do Ann Young and 'Doctor" F. F. Davis have reached the fork in the road and now they travel alone. A tiff concluded with Frank tearing his ring from Do Ann's finger and flinging it out the window. Miss Young's admirers were back in the fury for her favor at the SAE musical sexercise.

Ye Kernel editor was quoted in the Literary Digest with the lyrics, "Collegians are learning to drink like gentlemen." Convincing evidence of this fact was enacted at the jammed bar of the Canary Cottage prior to Saturday's festivities. However, at other local beer teats, Bacchanalia was in full swig. But the packed Cottage trough indicates that some persons are beginning to drink temperately and dignifiedly, a custom that America seriously needs for we hear that the Prohibitionists are rallying.

Step out in the Fashion Parade with Lexington Laundry Dry Cleaned Clothes

It's a wise economy to keep your present clothes looking better and lasting longer. That "just out of the bandbox" air doesn't necessarily mean a lot of new clothes. It need only mean keeping your present clothes in tiptop condition. And that's what a superior dry cleaning process like Lexington Laundry really does - what "price only" cleaning can never do.

Restoring the fresh, original crispness of your garments is almost like buying new clothes. You'll be amazed at the new feel of the fabrics, at their clean look, at the way all dust and dirt (even when ground in) have been removed, along with germs. When you compare results, you will quickly agree that our service is best.

tender throat right"

"In a way, it's easier to keep in condition as a dancer than as a singer. Exercise can keep the muscles in shape, but there are a lot of things that can go wrong with the voice and throat. It stands to reason, then, that any actress wants a cigarette that is gentle and strikes the right note with her throat. I started smoking Luckies 4 years ago. They're a light smoke that treat a tender throat right."

Ruly Keller

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women-lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Keeler verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies-a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

THE WORK-INURED FLOOR of the Alumni gym will take another beating this week-end when the Kentucky State High School Tournament convenes for its annual meeting. Coaches will age visibly, directors will sprout more gray hair, and the arena will resound once more with the enthusiastic cheers of high school students. The dreams of young hopefuls of the hardwood will become realities or il-Sophisticated collegians will join their younger brethern in cheering on the cohorts of their old alma maters. Such is the panorama of this ancient and colorful pageant, which lends a touch of the spectacular to an otherwise drab championship this year, four of whom contended here last year. College High of Bowling Green, Newport, Inez, and Midway survived the pounding of both the regional and the district tournaments to enter the state classic. Corbin High's Redhounds, last year's champions, will be conspicuous by their absence, having been eliminated in the regional. The remaining twelve berths will be occupied by quintets that have been here before, some of them champions of years gone by. Such teams as Hazard, Horse Cave, St. Xavier, Maysville, and others well known to Central Kentucky sports fans will try to oust the four contenders of last year, and it is this column's opinion that only one of the four will survive to enter the semi-finals.

A hangover from the past collegiate basketball season appeared with the publication of national rankings by Dr. E. E. Litkenhous, whose system is used in placing the quintets in ranking. The first place was taken by the Fighting Irish from Notre Dame, one of Kentucky's opponents of the past sea-son. Stanford's Indians took a close second, while Minnesota, ruler of winning the Southeastern Confer-A. crown was annexed by Western of college teams

Sixteen teams will enter the arena with high hopes for the championship this year, four of way into the national vision in this field.

Represented by Capt. Ben Willis and Dave Rogan, the Wildcat track team annexed one lone point in the Central Intercollegiate conference indoor track meet, held last week in South Bend. This one point was scored by Rogan, who placed fifth in the 880-yard run. He was also entered in the mile run, while Willis was a contender in the 60yard dash and the 65-yard low hurdles. The meet title was won by Notre Dame, whose Gregg Rice broke the conference mile record. Kentucky's thinlies are entering stiff competition when they enter a meet like this, and they showed up

Due to inclement weather, the majority of the sessions of spring football practice were held inside the gymnasium last week by the varsity. Basketballers have given up the hardwood and reported for football, among who are captainelect Joe Hagan, Bob Davis, and Walter Hodge, who is at present hampered by injuries.

Collegiate cheering sections might take a lesson from the enthusiastic the gridiron, nosed out Purdue for roars of high school sections when third position. Kentucky's Wildcats the State tournament convenes this nosed out Fordham for eighth week.
